KLIMB Dog Training Platform
The KLIMB gives a dog a place they learn is their very own

Many training methods used by professionals often involve a dog training platform or "Pause" table. The problem with most dog training platforms is that they tend to be heavy to accommodate larger breeds, they have a number of parts and require time consuming assembly or they're difficult to clean and cumbersome to transport. The Blue-9 KLIMB™ features a molded, one-piece top with a fully washable surface. The KLIMB is strong enough to securely hold any size dog yet weighs less than 14 pounds!

While the KLIMB is designed as a training tool for everything from basic dog obedience to freestyle training, professional trainers and groomers love the fact that it is expandable (units interlock to form whatever platform size is needed), stackable (when assembled AND for compact storage) and fully self-contained. That's right! The legs are easily removed and lock into place flush with the KLIMB's bottom surface. When it's time to clean up, the KLIMB is waterproof and washes clean with any pet-safe cleaner. That makes it great for grooming, too!

The KLIMB dog training platform gives a dog a place that they learn is their very own. A place where they feel focused and close to their owner or handler. A place they associate with reward and success.

- The KLIMB takes advantage of a dog's natural tendency to seek a higher vantage point
- Staying comfortably on the KLIMB, dogs quickly learn to focus and ignore distractions
- Focus makes it easy to teach new commands and fix behavior problems. Dogs quickly learn that following commands leads to rewards.
- Dogs become attached to the KLIMB; they begin to think of it as their "place," almost like it's their favorite chair.
- The KLIMB is easily configured, allowing you to create an impulse control system that fits the way you train.
- Units can be connected in virtually unlimited configurations for either conventional or agility training.
